LOUISVILLE:
FRIDAY, DECEMBER 3, 1855.

The Jeffersonville Railroad is the direct route between Louisville, St. Louis, Cairo, Kansas, Chicago, Springfield, Decatur and the principal cities in the West and Northwest.

Trains on this route form close connection at Seymour with trains on the Ohio and Mississippi Railroad, St. Louis and the West, and Cincinnati and the East; also at Indianapolis with the different roads for all places East, West and North.

Only one change of cars between Louisville and St. Louis, Cincinnati or Chicago. Baggage checked to all the principal cities. For time and further particulars examine advertisement in another column of this paper.

Through tickets go to all the principal cities on the Missouri and Mississippi rivers; also to all the principal places in the East, West and North. Office No. 507, southeast corner Main and Third streets, Louisville, Ky., where travelers can examine map and get further correct information. ndm

Indian Corn For Export.

In elaborate article on the value of Indian corn as "Food for the Million," the London Mark Lane Express suggests some facts of interest to western farmers. It sets forth that none of the cereals holds out greater prospects of a regular and full supply than Indian corn, especially to the skin, superior cologne and extract, foreign and domestic, also a large and well selected stock of toilet goods will be found at Raymond & Tyler's patent medicine and variety store, No. 74 Fourth street, opposite the National Hotel.

Gasar Reduction in the Prices of their Stock of Dry Goods. — Martin & Weston, No. 94 Fourth street, between Market and Jefferson, will, from this time until the 1st January next, offer their stock of goods at reduced prices, and would inform those who are disposed to take advantage of this decline in prices, that they will find it greatly to their advantage to call and examine their assortment before purchasing, as their stock is very complete for the winter season, purchased with little trouble to Henry Clay.

Cassier MATHER.—Mr. MORPHY. — Mr. Morphy has decided to pass the winter at the above.

Old Whigs waiting upon John J. Crittenden, who was the first of all our public men to desert the old and glorious party, and for the purpose of personal aggrandizement unite himself with the Know Nothing. A committee of Ashlanders calling upon John J. Crittenden, the man, who, after his political fortunes had been made by Henry Clay, basely deserted him for the idol of the fleeting hour. It was proper that our Senator should pass on to Boston. Even he had the delicacy to perceive that there was nothing seeming or in his holding consultation with the old body guard of the sage of Ashland. He must have felt within him the utter unworthiness of being a recipient of such honors as were paid him. In Boston, among his Republican colleagues, with whom he harmoniously acted last session, and who trumpeted his praise far and wide, he will find more congenial associates than among those New Yorkers who loved and revered and were faithful to Henry Clay.

Lord Lyttelton has addressed a letter to Mr. Morphy, from which we make the following extract:

"Your letter has but one profound fault, that is, you should perceive that it is not your fault, that the match between yourself and Mr. Stanton has not taken place. To this the reply might be made in two words. I cannot conceive it possible, that you could impinge the failure to you, or am I aware that you are not to blame, but in the circumstances, I shall, perhaps, not be blamed if I go somewhat further into the matter. In the general circumstances of the case, I consider that the match is to be blamed, and I do not believe that the existing prejudice against maize as an article of human food, must sooner or later give way before the progress of science. It makes it appear from analysis that the meal from this grain is more nutritious than flour from wheat, as it contains two per cent. more gluten, and six per cent. more fat, and besides this, it is more wholesome as well as more nutritious, owing to the large amount of oily matter, besides the peculiar medical elements which it contains. Notwithstanding the value of this grain as set forth, the Express thinks that Indian corn has a flavor peculiar to itself, which the prejudices of that country have yet to overcome, but notwithstanding it is fast establishing itself among all the civilized nations of the world as an invaluable article of food, and from experiments lately made there, it has "no hesitation in saying that it is more imported here fresh, and free from injury, it would soon become a favorite at the tables of more than our toll-worn population."

It is a fact, that while no skill, and ingenuity have been spared in the United States to produce the most perfect, fine, and white article of flour from wheat, for home consumption and export, little care has been taken with Indian corn. As corn and meal was first shipped to England at the time of the famine in Ireland, few years ago, as it is shipped even at this day, to be wondered that strong prejudices should exist against it as an article for home consumption, requiring a long time to remove, particularly while this grain is so carelessly gathered, and shipped in the improper condition that the largest portion of it is, that is sent out of the country for the express purpose of Mr. Stanton's conference to order to attend the Birmingham tournament."

Democratic Meeting in Owen.

At a meeting of the Democracy of Owen county, held at the court house in Owenton, on Monday evening, the County court—Ben Hayden, Esq., was called to the chair, and Dr. Duncanson chosen secretary.

On motion, R. H. Gale, A. P. Grover, Dr. N. Green, C. M. Y. Hale, and G. L. Lee, Esqrs., were appointed a committee to present a memorial expressive of the sense of the meeting.

Thereupon the committee, and the deputation, and the committee retired, and after deliberation, returned the following preamble and resolutions, to the meeting.
